4. Bankruptcy

- Chapter 7: We assist consumers in eliminating their dischargeable debt. Under Chapter 7 bankruptcy, there are still obligations that need to be paid. Non-dischargeable debt includes student loans, child support, and criminal restitution.
- Chapter 13 bankruptcy allows people with qualifying incomes to pay back a percentage of their debt through a payment plan lasting three to five years.
- Chapter 11: Our business bankruptcy lawyers counsel businesses on the appropriateness of filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy. Chapter 11 allows for debt reorganization, enabling businesses to continue their operations while paying their debts. We also offer insolvency counseling for businesses of all sizes.
- Creditors' rights: Our firm asserts creditors' rights in bankruptcy cases. We assist in protecting creditors in bankruptcy cases.

The majority of our clients are referred to us by other attorneys. At Sternberg & Coad-Hermelin LLP, we believe our colleagues refer clients and prospective clients to us because they feel confident and comfortable with the results we achieve. We are devoted to providing clients with cost-effective dispute resolution, mediation, and arbitration. We represent clients at all levels of the California state court system.

When you choose one of our lawyers for representation in real estate, probate, bankruptcy, or business litigation, you are choosing to work with an attorney who truly cares about the outcome of your case. We strive to maintain effective lines of communication with our clients. We also develop long-term quality relationships with our clients and advise them as their needs change.
